April Luncheon Gina Gleason, Executive Director Faith and Public Policy

The guest speaker for the April 26, 2019, meeting is Gina Gleason. Gina is the Executive Director of Faith and Public Policy, an organization that provides church leaders with information, resources, and tools to equip them to support and defend a Judeo-Christian worldview in the public square.

Ms. Gleason actively participates in the advocacy process through educating legislators and communities on pending legislation that effects students in public education, the family unit, and Christian values. Gina's presentation is on target for every citizen that is aware of the social and moral decline in California: AB 329 and SB 673.

Bring friends and family to hear how the grassroots movement is pushing back to Make California Great Again. Some of the topics that will be discussed are not suitable for children (although the government-run schools think so!).

Make your online reservations for the April 26, 2019 luncheon at www.SanBernardinoRWF.org or call Frieda Glick at 909-862-7523.

Remember, bring a friend! If they join SBRWF, you may win a 2020 membership!

From Our President
APRIL 2019

California is in a culture war! The family unit, Christian liberties, and conservative values are under attack. Policies that divide families, deny citizens the right to seek counseling for gender issues, provide pornographic information to children in sex-ed curriculum, and prop up the agendas of self-serving politicians should be in the crosshairs of every Republican in California. Data from a May, 2018 poll by Gallup revealed that forty-nine percent of Americans say the state of moral values in the U.S. is poor... the highest percentage in Gallup's focus on social morality since 2002. Causes for the decline are many: previously unacceptable social values are now adopted and participation in religious exercises are on the decline.

I won't get into the moral values issue but, let me say this. During this time of Passover and Celebration of the Resurrection let us reflect on God's love for us through His Son and ask how we, as Republican Women, can impart that reality into our families and into our communities.

May all of you be blessed during this season of redemption.
